Providence Hospice recognized as a We Honor Veterans Partner

It may surprise many people to learn And in cases where there might be some that 25 percent of those who die every year in the U.S. are Veterans.

To help provide care and support that reflect the important contributions made by these men and women, Providence Hospice has become a national partner of We Honor Veterans, a pioneering campaign developed by Na-Hospice Palliative Organization in collabora-WE HONOR VETERANS mitted to provide tion with the Department of Veterans Affairs.

As a We Honor Veterans Partner, Providence Hospice will implement ongoing Veteran-centered education for their staff and volunteers to help improve the care they provide to the veterans they proudly serve. The nation is seeing many of the veterans who served in World War II and Korea pass away-and the number of deaths of Vietnam Veterans is beginning to rise.

The We Honor Veterans campaign provides tiered recognition to organizations that demonstrate a systematic commitment to improving care for veterans "Partners" can assess their ability to serve veterans and, using resources provided as part of the campaign, integrate best practices for providing end-of-life care to veterans into their organization. By recognizing the unique needs of our nation's Veterans who are facing a life-limiting illness, Providence Hospice is better able to accompany and guide veterans and their families toward a more peaceful ending.

specific needs related to the veteran's military service, combat experience or other traumatic events, Providence Hospice will find tools to help support those they are caring for.

"We thank Prov idence Medical Center Hospice for partnering in the We Honor Vet erans program, NHPCO President & CEO Edo Banach. "We Honor Veterans partners are coming quality veteran-centric care to the Veteran patients they serve. They understand how a veteran's military service, combat experience or other traumatic events, could impact their end-of-life experience.'

The resources of We Honor Veterans focus on respectful inquiry, compassionate listening, and grateful acknowledgment, coupled with veteran-centric education of health care staff caring for veterans. To learn more about We Honor Veterans or to support this important work via a secure, online donation, please visit www.wehonorveterans.org.

"VA shares a common goal with our nation's hospices, and that is to provide the best possible care specifically tailored for veterans, meeting their goals of care in their preferred setting. As we focus on working together and unite our services and skills, We Honor Veterans will channel our combined strengths directly to Veterans - wherever they are receiving care,' added Banach.

Darrel G. Rahn

Darrel G. Rahn, 83, of Wayne, died Wednesday, Nov. 2, 2022 at Wayne Countryview and Care.

Memorial services were held Monday, Nov. 7 at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne. Burial with military rites was in Greenwood Cemetery in Wayne. Memorials may be directed to Our Savior Lutheran Church Foundation or the Darrel and Phyllis Rahn Scholarship at Wayne State College. Arrangements were with Hase-mann Funeral Home in Wayne.

Darrel Gene Rahn was born at home on a farm near Newcastle on June 22, 1939 to Max and Lola (Rickett) Rahn. He was raised on a farm near Dixon, attended rural school District 85 and graduated from Dixon High School in 1956. He attended Wayne State College from 1956 to 1958. He then joined the Army, serving one year in Fort Lewis, Washington and one year in Korea. After being in the service, he returned to finish college at Wayne State, graduating in 1962 with a BA degree in Education.

Darrel and Phyllis were married Aug. 23, 1962, recently celebrating their 60th anniversary. Darrel started teaching at Norfolk Junior High School while Phyllis finished her education. Both Darrel and Phyllis taught four years in the Grand Island school system. In 1968 Darrel received his Master's Degree in Science from the University of Utah and taught the following year at Citrus Heights, California. Darrel and Phyllis moved from California back to Wayne in 1969 and they farmed in Wayne and Carroll for many years. Darrel then worked at Logan Valley Implement until his retirement.

Darrel was active in the church and community. He served on the school board for District 51 and Northeast Feeders Association for many years. He was an active member of Redeemer Lutheran Church as an usher and liturgist, as well as on the church council and building expansion committee. Transitioning to Our Savior Lutheran Church, he continued ushering. He was treasurer of the local AAL (now Thrivent Financial). He also was active with the local Optimist Club, using his photography skills. He loved to share his woodworking projects with friends and family - anything from rocking horses for grandchildren to nativity sets, wine stoppers and kaleidoscopes.

Darrel enjoyed the people who worked with him on the farm as well as his farming neighbors. Darrel and Phyllis square danced for 25 years and they both loved a good card game of any kind with their friends, kids and grandkids. In later years they went often to the senior center for fellowship and a meal. Darrel and Phyllis did extensive traveling after they retired and made videos of trips to give to fellow travelers, which everybody enjoyed. Most of all, Darrel cherished family time together. He loved to create scavenger hunts for his grandkids and teach them woodworking skills. There were many family trips over the years to lots of destinations, the most recent gathering being last Christmas in Minnesota with all of the kids and grandkids.

Survivors include his wife; a daughter and son, Valerie (Tom) Perry (Yakima, Washington) and Marc (Kelli) Rahn (Sioux City, Iowa), and four grandchildren, Nick Perry, Ben Perry, Logan Rahn and Lincoln Rahn. He is also survived by his brother, Carrol Rahn, and his niece and nephew, Pam Kilian and Dennis Rahn all in Minnesota, a nephew, Judson Leibee in California, and a host of cousins and their spouses.

He was preceded in death by his parents; a sister and brother-in-law, Diana and Dan Leibee; a sister-in-law, Delila Rahn and a nephew, Jeff Leibee.

Students from the Wayne State College Personal, Public, and Global Health Honors Class have been partnering with community members and WSC Service-Learning to provide a venue for sharing ideas and engaging in conversation.

The community is invited to join the group at Gardner Auditorium on Monday, Nov.14 from 6 - 8 p.m. for Ideas & Conversations - What's Your Journey Story! Food will be served before speakers begin at 6:30, with food and conversation continuing after the speakers.

Giving students and community members the opportunity to bond and ask tough questions, Ideas & Conversations have covered a variety of topics from domestic violence to the stories of Native American and International students.

"This platform is helping us become closer as campus and community members, even fueling conversations and ideas that extend beyond each event. The ultimate goal is to promote social, mental, and physical health and wellbeing on campus and beyond," said Dr. Barbara Engebretsen, one of the organizers for the event.

This final event will ask, "What's Your Journey Story?" Hear from baengeb1@wsc.edu.

WSC student Mary Helms and chemistry professor Dr. Darius Agoumba as they share how their 'global experiences' have shaped who they are. Learn more about the value of our journeys, maybe share from your own, or even plant seeds for a journey of your dreams!

As the world and Wayne America emerge from more than two years of historical pandemic de-socialization, Ideas & Conversations aims to bring us together again, restoring conversation, connections, and community as we hear these extraordinary journey stories.

Winter Weather Preparedness Day being observed

One of the essential parts of emergency management is preparedness and that is exactly what state and county emergency managers across the state were promoting on Nov. 10 as part of Nebraska Winter Weath- bags; er Awareness Day.

"Every season we look ahead to the winter hazards we could face," said Erv Portis, Nebraska Emergency Management Assistant Director. "For anyone who has survived a Nebraska winter, it's easy to remember the issues heavy snowfall and extreme cold can cause. It's easy to understand the need for a winter preparedness plan for your Despite dry conditions throughout the state for most of 2022, snow and ice are still likely this winter. Emergency managers want Nebraskans to be prepared for winter before it strikes.

"Before watches and warnings are issued, prepare a winter storm plan that will enable you and your family to survive for up to 72 hours without any outside assistance," Portis said. "It's also a good idea to make a family emergency plan so your family knows what to do if a blizzard strikes."

NEMA recommends assembling disaster supply kits for home and auto, which could include:

- · Flashlight with extra batteries;
- · Battery-operated NOAA Weather Radio or AM/FM radio;
- First aid kit;

Military service: The cornerstone of a free republic

By Governor Pete Ricketts

Throughout our state's history. Nebraskans have made it a priority to honor our veterans. In fact, our appreciation is built into the very foundation of our State Capitol building.

One hundred years ago, in 1922, a military parade escorted veterans to the site of today's State Capitol in Lincoln to celebrate the laying of the building's cornerstone. The cornerstone paid tribute to Nebraska's veterans. It bears the inscription: "Dedicated to the Memory of Those Who Fell in the Service of their Country." The ceremony took place at 11 a.m. on the 11th day of the 11th month of the year to mark the exact time of the ceasefire that officially ended World War I in 1918.

Our ancestors rightly recognized that a willingness to serve is the cornerstone of a free Republic. America's greatness endures because of selfless citizens who willingly take responsibility to serve their families, communities, and nation. Our women and men who've put on the uniform deserve our gratitude year-round, and especially on Veterans Day.

erans, like Army veteran Erin Colson, who continues to serve others as a veteran service officer at the Nebraska Department of Veterans' Affairs (NDVA). This year, Erin helped convene the State's inaugural Women Veterans Symposium to gather and honor Nebraska's female veterans. It also includes those who gave their lives serving our country, like fallen Marine Corporal Daegan Page. A member of the Omaha community, Daegan was just 23 years old when he was killed last year while serving his country during the botched withdrawal from Afghanistan.

This Veterans' Day, we're gathering to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Capitol's cornerstone being laid. We'll thank the men and women who've bravely served in our nation's military and honor those who've given the ultimate sacrifice in service to our nation. During the ceremony, I'll sign a proclamation recognizing Veterans Day 2022 in Nebraska. The event is being co-hosted by the Office of the Nebraska Capitol Commission and the Nebraska Department of Veterans' Affairs. I invite you to join us-either in-person or online. A livestream will be provided by Nebraska Public Media starting at 10:30 a.m. with prelude music performed by Offutt Brass. You can tune in at nebraskapublicmedia.org/en/series-media/non-seriesvideo/capitol-cornerstone-veteransday-program-50019877.

We'll be joined by Nebraska veterans and the families of the fallen, including Wendy Adelson, Daegan Page's mother.

Veterans and military families are some of the most dedicated, patriotic citizens in our society. We want more of them to put down roots here in the Good Life, and we've worked to grow the benefits and programs we provide in recognition of their service.

We want top-notch mental health support for our veterans, our service members, and their families. In May, I announced Nebraska's participation in the Governor's Challenge to Prevent Suicide. This two-year initiative brings together This includes our surviving vet- the NDVA and the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services to identify gaps in care and drive enhancements to the State's mental health services.

> We want to create a tax-friendly environment so veterans choose Nebraska as their home. Last year, I signed LB 387 into law to exempt 100% of military retirement income from state income tax. This was one of my top legislative priorities in 2021.

We want to ease the transition from military service to civilian employment. The State launched the SkillBridge program, which connects servicemembers in their last 180 days of military service with Nebraska businesses. This allows veterans to explore post-military career opportunities and gives Nebraska employers the inside track to hiring great leaders.

We recognize that military spouses make tremendous sacrifices in service to our country, and we want to ensure they can find great jobs in the Good Life. Last year, I worked with the Unicameral to pass LB 389 to make it quicker and easier for military spouses to gain certification to teach after moving to Nebraska. This adds to the previous work we've done to help military spouses.

We want excellent care for our veterans. This March, we broke ground on a major expansion at the Eastern Nebraska Veterans' Home (ENVH) in Bellevue. We're adding a net total of 24 new beds so that we can give care to even more veterans. The expansion will also allow us to provide new services through the Adult Day Health Care program.

We've seen great success from our veterans initiatives. Nebraska has one of the lowest unemployment rates in America among veterans. In 2021, the average annual unemployment rate for veterans in Nebraska was 2.4%—even lower than our overall rate of 2.5%. In October, SmartAsset ranked Nebraska as the fourth-best state in the nation for veterans. While that's a strong ranking, we have our sights set on the #1 spot!

Our state's tradition of honoring our veterans remains as vibrant as ever. Nebraskans volunteer time and donate money to build parks and monuments honoring our veterans. These tributes preserve the stories of their heroic patriotism for future generations. This year, the State used funds from our Shovel-Ready Capital Recovery and Investment Act to support veterans projects underway across Nebras-

Wildcats consistency leads them into postseason impressive is the fact that Wayne some of the top teams in the country week in and week out in what is unquestionably the toughest volleyball conference in all of NCAA Division II.

'WIthout a doubt, we play in the toughest conference in the country and it says a lot about our team," conference Coach of the Year Scott Kneifl said Monday as he prepares his team for this week's Northern Sun Conference tournament in St. Paul, Minn. "They've battled over the last couple of months and we did it with the toughest schedule possible.

The schedule has included three games against perennial conference and Div. II power Concordia-St. Paul, along with top 10 teams including Minnesota Duluth, St. Cloud State, and Southwest Minnesota State, and the Wildcats have pretty much dominated all comers this season.

The only blemish on Wayne State's schedule was a five-set loss at Southwest Minnesota State. The Wildcats seem to have Concordia-St. Paul's number, beating them in the finals of the Colorado Premier Challenge over Labor Day weekend and sweeping home-and-home conference games, including Saturday's five-set thriller at the Gangelhoff Center that clinched the confer-

"We really have played consistent, and that's a key to this team," Kneifl said. "Is there room for improvement? Yes, and that's exciting. It's hard to say we're peaking right now and we're going to keep working toward those common goals to

The Wildcats are the top seed for the eight-team conference tournament that begins play Friday against an Augustana team Wayne State swept earlier in the year, but Kneifl said there will be no looking ahead by his team.

"We have to play whoever is in front of us, and one thing this team has done a great job of is worrying about what's going on on our side of the net," he said. "If we can control that, we can play with anybody in the country."

"Augie is probably a top 25 program that, because of their schedule, their record doesn't allow them to be, but they would be in the upper half of any other league in the country," Kneifl added. "They're playing for their tournament lives right now, so they're dangerous and whoever the aggressor is will have the upper hand. We can't play timid."

Wildcats sixth in Super Region rankings

The Wayne State football team stayed sixth in the second NCAA Super Region Four Football Rankings announced by the NCAA.

Angelo State of Texas, the lone unbeaten team in Super Region 4, remained atop the rankings while 8-2 Colorado School of Mines stayed second, with lots of shuffling in the remaining eight spots of the rankings. Minnesota State moved up one spot this week to third while Bemidji State jumped three spots to fourth. Winona State slipped two spots to fifth while Wayne State stayed sixth. Sioux Falls dropped two spots to seventh, Colorado State Pueblo entered this week's rankings at eighth and Minnesota Duluth entered in ninth while Augustana dropped one spot to 10th.

A total of 28 teams will advance to the NCAA Division II football championship this season (seven from each region) with 12 firstround games scheduled to be played on Saturday, Nov. 19. The top seed in each selection region (super region) will receive a bye in the first round of the playoffs.

Wayne State is 8-2 on the season and third place in the NSIC South Division with a 4-2 record following Saturday's 31-24 win at then 25thranked Sioux Falls. The Wildcats host MSU Moorhead at 12 p.m. Saturday in the regular-season finale at Bob Cunningham Field.

Nick Bohn is named NSIC Offensive POW

Nick Bohn of Wayne State was announced as the Northern Sun Conference Football Offensive Player of the Week following his performance in Saturday's come-from-behind 31-24 victory at 25th-ranked Sioux Falls.

The 6-foot-1, 200-pound sophomore quarterback accounted for four touchdowns and 280 yards of total offense in leading the Wildcats to their first-ever win over USF in 10 career meetings. He rushed for 115 yards on 18 carries and one TD while completing 13-of-24 passes for 165 yards and three TD's. Bohn rallied WSC from a 21-7 third quarter deficit and fired the go-ahead 17-yard touchdown pass to Jadon Johnson with 9:13 left in the game.

For the season, Bohn ranks second in the NSIC in total offense per game (270.8 yards), tied for second in passing TD's (18), fifth in passing yards per game (203.0) and ninth in rushing yards per game (67.8). He has completed 136 of 225 passes (60.4 percent) for 2030 yards and 18 TD's with just five interceptions Dilan Trujillo (0-4), 5th while rushing for another 678 yards on 148 carries and seven scores.

It's the first time that Bohn has earned NSIC Player of the Week honors.

Syvrud, Allen on All-NSIC soccer team

Annika Syvrud and Reagan Allen represent Wayne State College on the 2022 NSIC Women's Soccer All-Conference Team announced last week, with both selected to the Second Team.

Syvrud, a 5-foot-10 junior midfielder, scored three goals while starting in 16 games this season for the Wildcats. She was named the NSIC Offensive Player of the Week Sept. 26 after two goals in a 3-0 win over Minnesota Crookston, followed by a penalty kick goal in a 1-1 tie vs. Bemidji State. Syvrud finished the season tied for first on the team in shots on goal (14) and was third in shots with 19 despite missing the final two games due to injury.

Allen, a 5-foot-8 freshman, tied for the team lead in scoring this season with seven points on three goals and one assist while starting all 18 matches. She scored her first collegiate goal in just her second game in a 2-2 tie at Northwestern Oklahoma State on Sept. 1. Allen was credited with an assist in Wayne State's 3-0 win over Minnesota Crookston on Sept. 23 and produced two goals in a 5-2 victory over Upper Iowa Oct. 23. She finished the season with a team-leading 22 shots and was third in shots on goal (13) and fourth in minutes played Wayne State finished the 2022 season with an overall record of 3-11-4 and 12th place in the NSIC with a 3-9-3 league mark.

Gabe Peitz

Peitz maintains a 4.0 grade point average majoring in pre-med and chemistry. This season, Peitz has competed in all six meets for the Wildcats this season. He has a season-best finish of 21st at the Wildcat Classic and recorded a personal best time of 27:37.8 in the 8K at the Defender Holiday Inn Express Classic at Dordt University on Oct. 8. Peitz ran a time of 29:14.20 to finish 107th at Saturday's NSIC Cross Country Championships.

Peitz is also in his second year serving on the Student Athlete Advisory Committee at Wayne State College.

The NSIC Elite 18 Award is presented to the student athlete with the highest cumulative grade point average participating at the finals site for each of the NSIC's 18 Championships and Peitz is the first Wayne State men's cross country runner to earn the award.

WSC volleyball edges CSP in five sets to claim NSIC regular-season title

The Wayne State volleyball team wasn't in a sharing mood.

Down two sets to one in their final regular-season matchup and a Northern Sun Conference regularseason title on the line, the Wildcats rallied to beat Concordia-St. Paul for the third time this season, posting a 25-19, 16-25, 21-25, 25-18, 15-8 win Saturday at the Gangelhoff Center in St. Paul,

The win gives Wayne State its first outright NSIC regular-season title since 2008 and the No. 1 seed for the Northern Sun Conference tournament, which starts Friday at the same location.

The second-ranked Wildcats (29-1, 19-1 NSIC) used five service aces in the opening set to take the first game of the five-set match. Jessie Brandl, Brooke Peltz and Kelsie Cada also had service aces for the Wildcats. Rachel Walker while Maggie Brahmer and Taya Beller each recorded four kills to get WSC out in front early.

Third-ranked Concordia-St. Paul responded with two solid wins, jumping out to a 7-2 lead in the second set and hitting at a .516 clip in the third to take control of the match.

Wavne State would not be denied, however, building a sevenpoint lead in the fourth set and using nine kills from Cada to send the match to a fifth and deciding set. Wayne State never trailed there, taking the fourth-set momentum in and recording three blocks to close out the Golden Bears for the third time this season.

Beller had a career-high 21 kills Cada added 15 kills and 12 digs and Brahmer finished with 13 kills recorded 48 assists to go with 13 digs. Brandl led the defense with 14 digs and Jordan McCormick added 13. Beller had four blocks and Brahmer and Taylor Bunjer both had three. Wayne State wrapped up a shore of the conference regular-season title on Friday with a 25-15, 25-23, 20-25, 25-20 win at Minnesota

State in Mankato, Minn.

Beller had a match-high 18 kills to pace Wayne State followed by Brahmer with 17 and Cada 10 and 12 digs, along with a career-best six blocks. Walker had 46 assists and 12 digs. Brandl was credited with a career-best 31 digs while McCormick also posted a careerhigh 22 digs. Brooke Peltz had two of Wayne State's five service aces.

Winside Firemen host Elkhorn Valley Association Fire Fighters at Sunday house burning

Words of advice and instruction were given to fireman as they prepared to practice fire fighting techniques Sunday. Winside firemen were hosts to the group and showed their second story ability to start the action. Bud Froehlich set the fires for the groups to go into action and displayed his ability with an axe. The firemen carefully practiced controlling a fire while allowing the building to burn to the ground.

Prancin' and Dancin' Wayne High Band among best

Wayne High School band members pranced their way to the highest rating possible in Saturday's Nebraska High School Marching Band Festival at Pershing Auditorium in Lincoln.

"We think we've got a first class band and now we've proved it," Ron Dalton, band director, said.

who have won the award during the past 19 years- Gary West and Bob Schleicker, according to Fulton.

The 70-member group earned one's from all three judges in the contest in spite of one mistake in their seven-minute routine.

The mistake came when the applause from the capacity crowd drowned out the drum major's signal and all band members did not rise from a crouching position on cue, Dalton said. Still, the judges considered the band's routine good enough to rate the top mark, he said.

Wayne's band was made up of 64 band members, five twirlers and one drum major.

Wayne competed against such schools as Ord, Crete, Central City and Gothenburg.

Patrolman wins Red Cross Award

Wayne Police Officer Keith Adams recently received the American Red Cross Certificate of Merit for saving the life of a 20-month-old baby

Bernice Fulton, the Wayne County chapter's safety chairman, and Wayne Mayor Wayne Marsh presented the certificate and the American Red Cross Lifesaving Award of Merit to pin to the patrolman.

Adams, who recently was named officer of the year by the Nebraska Police Officers Association, joins only two other Wayne County residents

Adams saved the life of Joshua Bowers, the son of Mary and Robert Bowers of Wayne, by using artificial respiration. The award is the highest given by the American Red Cross.

Wayne Turkey Trot draws 72 participants

Seventy-two runners took part in the annual Wayne Turkey Trot road race held Saturday morning in downtown Wayne.

Extreme chilly temperatures greeted the participants but that did not stop Lincoln's Delbert Christensen and Waterbury's Jean Gill from setting course records

Christensen won the men's two-mile run in a time of 11:12- breaking his own record while Gill was timed in 31:12 in the women's five-mile

Richelle Woockman of Wakefield was the overall winner of the women's two-mile run and Dave Dannebring of Laurel captured the men's five-mile race in 29:57.

The winners all received turkeys.

Fundraising ongoing for new library in Wakefield

Funds are being raised for a new library in Wakefield. Nov. 1 marked the 87th anniversary of the opening of the Graves Public Library located at 206 West Third Street.

With age, the building is deteriorating. It does not meed ADA requirements and lacks space in the library for books and equipment. Looking back, the building, its furnishings and 300 books were a gift from Philo Graves in memory of his 7-year-old son, Jay Philo Graves who died of diphtheria.

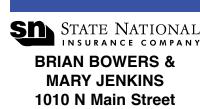

Graves, a philanthropist, gave much to the town as he also helped establish the school, donated land for the park, provided money and land to establish churches and helped start some of the businesses.

While Graves put a lot of thought into the planning of the facility by visiting other libraries first, he could not have realized the physical needs and changes the building would undergo through the years.

Not only has the number of books (about 13,500 now) and materials outgrown the available space in the library, but weather and the elements have taken their toll on the structure.

While a new library has been needed for some time, there's been a push by the library board and foundation lately to get funds for the project. The foundation sent out an alumni mailing asking for donations and recent fundraisers included a pie stand during ball games this summer and a rummage/bake sale held a month ago. Future fundraisers are also being planned.

Wayne Community Schools and Elkhorn Valley Bank

Partners in Education

We at Elkhorn Valley Bank care about the future of Wayne Community Schools. To do our part, we are going to donate $1.00 each quarter for every student in Grades 7-12 who make the Honor Roll during the 2022-2023 school year. At the end of the year, the money earned will be used toward the purchase of materials to enrich the academic program at their schools.

But, Nebraska is at risk of falling behind. Families struggle to find child care, as 91% of communities with licensed child care programs do not have enough space to meet the demand. Making this challenge even harder for families and communities, early educators are leaving the profession at an alarming

Access to quality early childhood rate. Skilled early childhood teachand a thriving future—for Nebraska's children. It's up to us to make sure they are appreciated, supported, and recruited to serve our children, families, and state.

The goal of We Care for Kids is to build support for quality early childhood education in Nebraska - helping every Nebraskan understand that this issue impacts them. We Care for Kids provides cohesion amongst Nebraska's networks that support early childhood and amplifies our collective efforts. Nebraska Extension is a critical campaign partner, helping the campaign reach thousands of Nebraskans in just a few short months by supporting a variety of outreach efforts and being "boots on the ground," sharing information with communities across the state from Scottsbluff to November 1 marked the first monthly We Care for Kids Day, with regular celebrations recognizing the importance of quality early childhood education in Nebraska. Each month has a slightly different focus to emphasize that all members of our communities can support early childhood education.

Starting in November, we give extra thanks to early childhood educators who wake up every day to provide quality education to our youngest Nebraskans. Help us thank early childhood educators by using a customizable thank you template. The template along with more information about We Care for Kids can be found at https://nebras-

These passages brought many thoughts and questions to mind such as what we think about miracles and signs, the relationship between Jesus and his mother and why was Jesus at the wedding in Cana.

The passage from Mark challenged us to think about why the disciples would leave behind their vocations, homes and families to follow Jesus so quickly. The disciples said yes to Jesus without consulting their families and with little thought about caring for them-

Sharing a time of conversation about these passages was rewarding; however, we found more questions than answers. Isn't that just like life? Lots of questions and answers that must be sought out. Faith calls us to hold that tension between belief and hope, between questions and answers, between knowing and unknowing. What kind of questions should we be asking of ourselves about what we believe and how we "practice" our beliefs?

We see many fractures in society today, struggles for power, money, and influence. We see intolerance of those with ethnic, religious, political or physical differences. The culture of anger and divisiveness is pervasive and there is a dismissiveness of other's ideas, thoughts, and opinions. Members of the 2022-2023 Wayne FFA Chapter pose for a group photo during the recent Ceremonies Night at Wayne High School. A number of members were awarded FFA jackets and earned degrees during the event.

FFA Chapter holds Ceremonies Night

The Wayne FFA Chapter recently held a Ceremonies Night in which a number of students received FFA jackets and were recognized for their accomplishments.

The Nebraska FFA Foundation coordinates and awards FFA jackets to students who applied to receive their own jacket. This award program is known as "Blue Jackets, Bright Futures."

This year, 11 Wayne FFA members were awarded their own jack-

They included:

Addison Sharpe, Reese Rethwisch, Abby Miller, Hannah Burris, Clara Ankeny, Taven Ocampo, Allan Brenner, Derek Heinemann, Claire Lutter, Lucas Allemann and Kayleigh Graybeal.

Other members who applied for this also received jackets from sponsors through the Wayne County Farm Bureau. Wayne County Farm Bureau sent a letter to its members asking for sponsors for FFA jackets. This was done to create a network in the ag community and encourage the student to stay involved in FFA and agriculture.

In FFA, there is a degree system that awards students for their achievements in FFA. The first is the Greenhand Degree, then the Chapter Degree, which is the highest degree an FFA chapter can give to its members. Following the Chapter Degree, FFA members can earn the State Degree at the State level and then the American Degree at the National level.

The Greenhand Degree requirements are as follows: An FFA Greenhand Degree recipient must be enrolled in an agricultural class, have satisfactory plans for a supervised agricultural experience program, learned and explained the FFA motto, learned and explained the FFA salute, learned and explained the FFA creed, described and explained the meaning of the FFA emblem and colors, understand and have explained the FFA Code of Ethics and proper use of the FFA jacket, demonstrated an understanding of the organization's History, the chapter constitution and bylaws, and the chapter Program of Activities, and own or have access to the Official FFA Manual or the FFA Student Handbook.

Earning Greenhand degrees

ing to hear discussions about possible groundwater use restrictions for next year.

Because the district continues to be in a D3 & D4 drought, as determined by the U.S. Drought Monitor, the board must make decisions by November 1st about any limited use of water for the following year, according to the LENRD's drought management plan.

The board approved the recommendations presented at their October meeting, by the Ad-Hoc Drought Response Committee, to limit the amount of groundwater use in 2023. The decision will limit municipal water supply wells to 250 not already have an allocation) will be limited to 15 inches per acre for each certified irrigated acre, for any well located in a designated D3 or D4 area. Municipalities will also be required to adopt a plan for water conservation practices and water use restrictions and provide a copy to the LENRD by March 1st, 2023.

Chad Korth, LENRD director from Meadow Grove, said, "We wanted everybody involved in our discussions, not just agriculture. That's why the municipalities are included, we're all in this together. The idea is to preserve this water for the next generation.'

Mike Sousek, LENRD general

If it doesn't rain, we have to be prepared, not only for next year, but for the year or two following. We are being proactive. We have to prepare for the worst and help producers plan for a possible shortage of water in year 2 or 3 of the drought." Sousek added, "Of course, if drought conditions are downgraded to a D2 designation for 14 consecutive days, all restrictions will be lifted."

> The district also made the decision to forego the consideration of requests for new uses of groundwater for irrigation. Sousek said, "This will allow for the completion of previously approved projects and ed staff to contact producers whose irrigation wells have exceeded the annual allocation for groundwater uses for 2022, as outlined in the LENRD's conditions for approval policy for new irrigation wells. Violators could receive a penalty that would reduce their allocation for the next two years. Public hearings will be held with the board on each individual case.

Wayne County 4-H adult volunteers are honored for their service tenure every five years. Achieving five years of leadership were: Kent Owen, Molly Redden, Joshua Ruwe, Jeremy Sebade, Brandon Ziska and Leslie Ziska. Earning ten-year service pins were Erin Eilers and Bryan Hays. Connie Behmer has been a Wayne County 4-H volunteer for 35 years.

The Harold Wittler Memorial Junior Beef Award was established in 2017 by his family in honor of Harold's interest in young 4-Hers and the beef project. The award is based on an accumulative point system of showmanship, market, breeding, cow/calf, and record keeping participation. LJ Wells was the recipient of the award this year.

The Teresa Statler Memorial Intermediate Division Beef Award is for beef exhibitors that are 4-H age of 11, 12, and 13 and the Darwin Statler Senior Division Beef Award is for beef exhibitors that are 4-H age 14 and older. Both awards were established in 2018 by Laura Behmer and Sarah Sellin in honor of their parents and are also based on an accumulative point system of showmanship, market, breeding, cow/calf, and record keeping participation. The Intermediate Division winner was Ty Sievers and Hope O'Reilly was the Senior Division winner.

Wayne County 4-H youth are recognized on their first, fifth, tenth, and eleventh years of membership. Eighty-three 4-Hers are receiving membership pins.

First year participants in 4-H were: Patrick Addison, Alaina Braun, Olivia Caurtell, Bentley Clyde, Owen Dickes, Blayne

Fox, Flynn Fox, Breanna Fuchs, Khloie Fuchs, Sydney Galles, Eliiah Gapp, Harper Hanson, Mason Jech, Dean Junck, Paige Junck, Ryker Kramer, Meleah Larson, Carter Lubke, Kendra Lundahl, Jaymes McIntosh, Noah McLaughin, Copper McLaughlin, Camden Mostek, Mariana Nexticapan, Samantha Nexticapan, Ryder Olberding, Sophia Petersen, Dagney Petersen, Kadie Prothman, Casen Quinn, Jensen Roberts, Lennox Ruwe, Landen Sharer, Blayke Skoken, LJ Wells, Mackenzy Wohler, Maxx Wohler, Owen Wynia and Boden Vanosdall.

Five-year pin recipients were: Caleb Carroll, Hadley Dunklau, Jaeger Genereux, Paxton Grothe, Camden Hall, Abi Hawthorne, Hallie Heithold, Brooklynn Hendershot, Gracie Janke, Reagan McManigal, Brinley Miller, Carter Mostek, Grant Nelsen, Ellise Niemann, Hank Niemann, Lucas Petersen, Riley Petersen, Tate Petersen, Colby Raulston, Courtney Roeber, Hunter Ruwe, Aubree Schmale, Cashius Schrad, Colton Sebade, Ty Sievers, Cole Vanosdall and Maddox Ziska.

Members receiving ten-year pins were: Nina Hammer, Jamie Janke, Grace Junck, Samuel Junck, Cody Kempf, Ashton Munsell, Lindsay Niemann, Hope O'Reilly, Sydney Redden and Mason Topp

Eleven Year 4-Hers who were recognized were: Aubrie Edwards, Jaclyn Kempf, Madyson Sievers, Amanda Sellin, and Kati Topp.

Members completing Achievement Application included Ben Sandoz. By completing, 4-H members learn record keeping skills, writing skills, and goal setting, which will help individuals throughout their lives. The purpose of the Diamond Clover Award is to encourage 4-H ects and activities that will enable members to acquire the life skills necessary to lead successful lives as competent, caring and contributing citizens. Participants and their awards included Level 4 Sapphire Jenna Vilkas.

The overall goal of 4-H clubs is to develop enthusiastic young people who demonstrate life skills as capable, caring, confident, competent kids of character thus contributing to the improvement of themselves, their family, their club, their community, and their world. One way clubs might choose to measure their success in meeting that goal is their ability to gain status as a Nebraska 4-H Club of Excellence. To receive the designation as a Nebraska 4-H Club of Excellence, clubs must meet all the criteria and document how the criteria is met. Club of Excellence winners for this year are the American Country 4-Hers and Country Classics 4-H Clubs.

The election for Wayne County 4-H Council was held in conjunction with the annual 4-H Achievement Program. The Wayne County 4-H Council sponsors the Achievement Program and plays an important role in setting the direction of the 4-H program.

As a result, four new members will serve as the two new adult members on the council. Lindsay Niemann of Wayne and Landen Roeber of Carroll are the new youth members. The newly elected members join Michael Fehringer, Mandy Parker, Ella Leseberg, and Ashton Munsell who will be beginning their second-vear term.

Outgoing members recognized included Megan Meyer, Ben Sandoz, Marshawn Gubbels, and Kyle

Diane Roeber serves as the 4-H Council Treasurer.

Line from song brings back memories

I'm often surprised at the way music from my past is imbedded in this old brain.

Not just lullabies I sang to my kids, but popular songs from the Fifties, and occasionally, lyrics sung in high school choirs and small groups. Such a song is No Man is an Island.

We celebrated All Saint's Day this past Sunday. And our pastoral intern, who grew up in this church and whose own father has been gone for a number of years, based his sermon on the fact that often, at the start of a funeral, the church bell tolls. Since we don't actually have a bell in a steeple, one of the large bells used by the bell choir sounds as the names of those who have died in the past year are read.

As the famous poem ends, we are not to ask "for whom the bell tolls, it tolls for thee." Or, as pastor Dan said, "it tolls for thee, for you, for me." He accomplished his goal of helping us remember those we have lost and to focus on the fact that our lives on this earth are brief in the total scheme of things.

But while he was extemporizing on this subject, a line that started, "No man is an island," kept buzzing around in my memory. By the time got home, I had remembered most of the words. But to be sure, and to fill in the blanks, I went to my faithful Wikipedia. The first arrangement that came up was by The Lettermen. I'm not sure I even remembered a group called that, but they had a smooth, harmonious arrangement that brought it all back.

"No man is an island, no man stands alone. Each man's grief is grief to me, each man's joy is my own. We need one another, so I will defend, each man as my brother, each man as my friend!:" Short and sweet, that's for sure..

I was surprised to see how many choral groups have recorded this, and many have been in the last twenty years. Since it was something I sang in high school, I did not expect to see it still around. I think it's partly the words; they do say some important things. And, also, it's an easy choral piece, and sounds really good when sung by a group.

The poem is by John Donne. I knew that, but I knew little about John Donne. Again, to wiki, where I learned he was writing in the 1600s. A long time ago. He did become a priest and many of his later poems were religious in nature. So, a poem about bells tolling. Then, of course, Hemingway used it as a title for one of his best known books; I know I read it a long time ago, but it did not come back to me the way the song did.

It proved to me once again of the power of music, and of the way we recall words set to music. Of course, now, the song is an earworm; I need to find something else!

Grazing suggestions offered animals can physically consume.

Winter Grazing Pastures By Jerry Volesky

Grazing stockpiled winter range or pastures has several benefits. It is much less costly compared to feeding hay. On native range, there is little risk of damage to the grasses because they are dormant and winter stocking rates can be somewhat higher compared to the summer. Often times, you will notice that native pastures only grazed during the winter are the most vig-

It is important though, that you closely monitor body condition of the cows during the winter grazing period. Crude protein is generally the most limiting nutrient during winter grazing. The crude protein content of dormant warm-season grasses will be around 5 to 7%, and will slowly decline through the winter months from weathering and as the cattle selectively grazing the higher quality forage in a pasture.

Stockpiled cool-season grass pastures are those that have been onwere elected. Carol McGuire of ly lightly or not grazed during the Wayne and Erin Eilers of Wayne growing season. These pastures may have slightly higher crude protein levels, but that quality will also decline as the winter progresses. Feeding the right amount of protein supplement while winter grazing will allow the cows to effectively utilize that winter forage and maintain the desired body condition.

> A possible grazing management strategy that can be used is to do simple rotational grazing where cattle are periodically moved to a new winter pasture. This will allow for a more consistent diet quality

when winter grazing.

Whatever your strategy, though, consider carefully what kind of nutrition animals are getting from the pasture so you neither underfeed nor overfeed expensive supplements. And be sure to provide salt, calcium, phosphorus, and vitamin A free choice at all times.

Winter grazing is a great opportunity to reduce winter feed costs. With proper management, it can help you meet many of your feeding

Fall Fertilization On Corn Stalks Before Grazing By Brad Schick

Grid sampling and application of dry fertilizer is common in the fall, but is it safe to graze corn residue fields that have had the fertilizer applied?

The answer comes down to how much risk in animal wellbeing we are willing to take. The risk potential varies based on different fertilizer components. Potassium, zinc, nitrogen, and sulfur nutrients could all be toxic, but risk depends on consumption rate and the amount

To reduce risk, wait to graze until after precipitation whether that be rain or snow melt. Waiting for rain is more important if the application stuck to damp or wet residue. Calculations can tell if what was applied would pose a risk. Nitrogen fertilizers can cause toxicity in different ways related to amounts; but any spill available for consumption is a high risk. There are other fertilizer components in a grid sampled applications that may or may not be a problem due to the how much is in the mix. For example, potassium would be toxic at 30,000 mg/kg of intake or 3% of the diet which is very unlikely. High potassium intake can cause a magnesium deficiency; so making a high magnesium mineral available might be considered. High sulfur intake could cause polioencephalomalacia or PEM, but that is also

A lot of downed corn could also increase the risk of PEM. Cattle can tolerate 0.5% sulfur in the diet, but corn residue only contains close to 0.1%. Zinc consumption is fine up to 1000 mg/kg without problems and phosphorus can be tolerated up to 1% of the diet.

To review: The safest approach for grazing corn stalks is to wait until after a rain or graze before fertilizer application, but that may not be realistic. Assessing the fertilizer amount will give a good idea of risk level. If the fertilizer can easily be seen on the residue, be more cautious when grazing.

How the misuse of lawn fertilizer affects water quality

As I walk through the neighborhood close to my office, I see white granules that have accumulated along the street's gutter. Up ahead, there is a lawn care company busily at work, making its way down the block from client to client. How does the lawn fertilizer end up in the street? It could be the spreader the applicator is using, or it could be the worker using the leaf blower, pushing granules onto the street as he clears off the sidewalk. Upon questioning them, the lawn care people are aware the fertilizer in the street is from their work, but they confess to being unaware of the harm this poses to water quality and aquatic life.

If you're shrugging your shoulders at this point and asking, "What's a few fertilizer pellets in the street really going to harm?" let me draw a connection for you.

Fertilizers washed into storm sewers end up in creeks, streams, ponds, and lakes. This nutrient enrichment promotes algal growth, some of it highly toxic to wildlife and pets that drink from surface water. Abundant algae growth leads to eutrophication, a condition that depletes water of oxygen and leads to fish kills. Water with high nutrient loads smell bad, reducing recreational value for fishing, boating, and swimming.

The N-P-K ratio found on the fertilizer bag is the percent by weight it contains of nitrogen, phosphorus (as phosphate), and potassium (as potash). Of these, nitrogen and phosphorus are the biggest problems in lakes and streams. Best case scenario is that the fertilizer applications are made to growing turf roots to take up fertilizer nutrients. Things that get in the way of root uptake are drought stress, plant dormancy, erosion, and frozen soil. Anytime fertilizer isn't in plants, then conditions for nutrient movement into lakes and streams becomes a probability. Fertilizers left on hard surfaces are easy to spot and the most easily corrected. Sweeping or blowing fertilizer and turf clippings, which are also a source of nutrients, from paved surfaces onto lawns is a simple solution. Whether you do your own or hire a lawn care company, the final step before putting away/loading the lawn equipment is to clear paved surfaces of any fertilizers, pesticides, and lawn clippings, returning these materials to the lawn where they'll do the most good. Water quantity is uppermost on many peoples' mind these days as the drought deepens, making it paramount that we take care of the water we have. Water quality af-

Campaign spending in Nebraska out of control

Commentary by J.L. Schmidt Statehouse Correspondent Nebraska Press Association

I'm struggling with the math on this one.

At least 20 people running for the Nebraska Legislature are spending $100,000 or more on their campaigns. The job, if they get it, pays $12,000 a year plus a per diem that barely covers gas and living expenses for the time they spend in Lincoln for either the 60-day or 90-day legislative session. Where is the return on the investment?

"You can't put a price on power," said Creighton University political scientist Richard Witmer.

Witmer, retired University of Nebraska at Omaha political scientist Paul Landow, Gavin Geis of Common Cause Nebraska -- which advocates for limits on campaign contributions - and others told the Nebraska Examiner that Nebraska now mirrors the national trend. "The question is when does this stop? When does it plateau?" Geis asked. That fundraising will continue to climb, he said, as long as the Legislature maintains the status for political fundraising, quo with no caps on donations and Voters, he said, lose the ability to elect leaders who represent and reflect their communities as the cost of running

A 1993 Nebraska law tried to balance the scales by setting a voluntary spending limit. Once a candidate eclipsed that level, the state offered public money to competing campaigns that raised and spent less. Under the law, legislative races were capped at a certain level, and few candidates bucked the limit. The Nebraska Supreme Court tossed out the law in 2012, however, and campaign spending has risen dramatically since then. Geis said state senators could legislate limits on individual and group donations that would pass constitutional muster. But, former State Sen. Scott Lautenbaugh, a Republican who tried to repeal the limitations act when he was in the Legislature, said he preferred increasing public disclosure of who is donating funds and not setting spending limits because caps

As the cost of running increases, voters lose the ability to elect leaders who represent and reflect race and others. their communities as the cost of mid-June this Nebraska campaigns and political committees had raised a record $51 million on state and local races, according to the Nebraska Accountability and Disclosure Commission. That's more than double the old record of $23 million just two years ago. It's nearly seven times the recent low of $7 million raised for those races in 2012.

Nebraska's costliest-ever GOP primary for governor this year drove the newest numbers. Nearly $28 million was raised, powered agribusinessman Herbster's $13 million, University of Nebraska Regent Jim Pillen's $10 million and State Sen. Brett Lindstrom's $3 million.

Of course, political spending by Gov. Pete Ricketts and his family added up. They gave nearly $2 million to Conservative Nebraska, an outside group that hammered both of Pillen's top GOP opponents. The governor also helped fund

Ricketts' mother, funded much of the Voter ID effort. Donors to the minimum wage effort include Nebraska Appleseed, labor unions and a national progressive group, Sixteen Thirty Fund. Experts point out that campaign advertising has become more expensive as political consultants charge more. Term limits have created more open-seat races on which both parties compete and spend more. High-dollar donors are competing with each other for influence and dark money groups, which shield their donors' identities, are attracting more funds. "It gets more and more expensive
